TODAY IS TUBERCULOSIS DAY AND HEALTH LEAGUE DAY

The Mason County Public Health League will, in compliance with the request contained in the proclamation of Governor McCreary, observe "Tuberculosis Day," today, Friday November 27, and will today hold its annual meeting.

Important business will be transacted, a report of the work of the past year will be made and plans for the future will be discussed. The following program should interest every one:

Morning Session—Dr. G. E. Robbins, President Ohio Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis; Mrs. C. P. Weaver, Secretary Anti-Tuberculosis Society, Louisville, Ky.; L. C. Reynolds, Assistant Superintendent Metropolitan Insurance Company.

Afternoon Session—Dr. C. A. L. Reed, Cincinnati, O.; C. P. McCampbell, Ph. D. M. D., Secretary and Executive Officer Ohio State Board of Health; Miss Charlotte Ludwig, Superintendent of Nurses' Department of Public Health, Cleveland, O.

Every one of these speakers are authorities on the topics they will discuss, and it will be worth traveling miles to hear them. These meetings will be held in the Christian church, will be free to all, and every man and woman in Mason county is asked to attend. An informal banquet at 7 p. m., at Neptune Hall will close the day.

HOW THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT CORBIN HAS GROWN.

Rev. J. M. Evans has returned from Corbin, having been invited by the officers of the Presbyterian church to visit that congregation and preach twice on Sunday. Having accepted an offer a year ago made by Rev. S. D. Boggs, he was holding a protracted meeting in this church. Mr. Boggs died while the meeting was in progress. The meeting continued and Mr. Evans spent five months with the church. Few churches have made greater progress. The attendance is four times as great as it was a few years ago. Not only at the regular services on the Sabbath, but at the prayer meetings and Sabbath school. There have been 50 additions and a pastor called for all of his time.

MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS

Mason County To Be Freed of Illiteracy—Banks To Receive Funds—All Urged To Help.

The campaign for the moonlight schools has opened. The ladies would like to have the different banks in the city to act for them in receiving money. Any one desiring to contribute is asked to send checks, large or small, to any one of the banks or the Union Trust Company, which are requested to receive same and deposit it in their bank to the credit of the moonlight schools. The ladies request the banks get these contributions that they report them to the papers, as cash received or names may be mentioned to the papers, as thought best.

The merchants are also asked to receive contributions and to deposit them in their respective banks to the credit of the moonlight schools.

This is a fight to relieve our county of illiteracy. A great many in this county—more than 1,100—can neither read nor write, and these schools are to teach these people, old and young—so as to stamp out illiteracy. The same movement is going on in all the other counties of the state. Do not let Maysville and Mason county be laggards. The ladies have plenty to do without making house-to-house appeals for funds and the good people are requested to send in their contributions.

Let us all help in this movement. The small contributions will be gladly received from those not able to make larger ones.

TWO SUITS FILED

In Mason Circuit Court—Omer Bolar Asks For $7,650 Damages Against Dr. Joseph Browning.

Wednesday in the Mason Circuit Court Omer Bolar, through his attorney, Charles L. Day, filed suit against Dr. Joseph Browning for $7,650 damages for his alleged negligent and unskilled conduct in treating the right arm and shoulder of the plaintiff, thus causing him great bodily injury and pain and the permanent impairment of said right arm and shoulder.

A. T. Day and T. S. Drennon, through their attorneys, B. S. Grannis and J. M. McIntire, filed suit against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad for damages in the sum of $272, with interest at 6 per cent from July 23, 1914, until paid, for damage and shrinkage in value to cattle shipped from Mt. Sterling, Ky., to Jersey City, N. J.

Miss Cora DeAtley and Mrs. Iva Ross and daughter, Miss Helen, of Portsmouth, O., are guests of Miss Bertha Sparks.

THANKSGIVING REFLECTIONS

Why Do Business Men Stay Away From Church?—A Little Religion Now and Then Is Good For Officials and Business Men.

Like the passing of the day, when the sun, seemingly anxious to continue her reign, paints the western sky with the colors she has always put in the golden glow and the rose, so the spirit of Thanksgiving day leave upon the thoughtful minds impressions not easily overlooked. There is some divine alchemy in the spirit of Thanksgiving which mellow and refines one's nature so that it is easier to be kind and good and charitable. Thankfulness does not necessarily come out of devotion to a deity or to an honored personage, but it does come from a thoughtful heart which considers causes and events, sources and supplies, advantages, favors and possibilities and how because of these things one is indebted to the Sovereign Heart of the universe. Out of this thankfulness will come devotion to this Sovereign, and here is marked the change in one's nature and in man's relation to his fellowmen.

These things being true, what untold value to a nation is a national Thanksgiving day. A service has been rendered that country by all who, either in the secret chamber of his own home or in the public assemblage of thankful citizens, expressed to God the praise and thanksgiving due Him. Can one be really true to his country and not express his thanks to his country's God?

In Maysville, the service conducted in the First Presbyterian church was beautiful in its impressiveness. The community is better because of that service.

There are some things suggested by the service as conducted and as attended which might well be called to the attention of the thinking people of our community.

First as to the service. The plain, pointed sermon given by Rector J. H. Fielding, so emphasized the real reason for the rendering of thanks to God, as to be food for thought and meditation to all who were there for many days to come. He properly stated that not wholly or solely for the material individual or national blessings, nor for our peace and comfort, but for the assured presence of God in whatever state and lot should we render our thanks.

Then the personnel of the audience was impressive. Persons were present from every social class in the city. Culture predominated. The attendance was considered good. The oneness of spirit manifested by the different denominational church workers was marked. The spirit of the true worshiper was present and caused one to forget places, persons and denominational doctrines.

The singing was no small part of the service and though mostly congregational, the specials by the choir were appropriate; yes, the more appropriate because of the more simple and devotional. The offer taken at this service was $25, and according to the custom of past years, will be used by the City Mission in this charity work.

The second line of impressions made upon one have to do with things outside the service. First of all should be mentioned the fact that there was a noticeable absence of the city officials from the service. With possibly few exceptions, there were no physicians or lawyers or editors present. In fairly good numbers here and there, there sat in the audience business men whose presence dignified the occasion, but there were many, very many, who were not present.

No personal criticism is intended. For each person knows best his own hindrance, and all may have been represented by some member of the family. But this after-impression is here given because it may be customary to look lightly on a service of this character. It is not a service for the churchgoer or the Christian only (and many of these were absent), but a service for all. Therefore the more prominent ones station or position in the community the greater the reason for attending this service which is held at the request of our nation's Chief Magistrate, the President. Shall we wait to be visited by a sweeping plague or by a devastating fire or some other calamity? Have we not difficult problems now which confront our best citizenry and shall we not hope for the favor of our God in their solution.

These, with other thoughts, such as the advantages of closing the stores at say, 10 a. m., on such a day, remain with one as the after-impressions of the day. But on the whole the better impressions are so strong as one is inclined to overlook all the others.
